

About Custom Harvard Regalia Provided by The Harvard Coop

Our custom regalia is made by Oak Hall Industries, which manufactures everything in Salem, Virginia, USA.

The fabric is also made in the USA.

We are often asked to compare our custom regalia to a competitor's product, which is made overseas. There are substantial differences in the grade of fabric and finishes used - when compared to regalia made overseas, our custom gowns have superior fabric draping, much more generous fluting, and a softer, rich grade of velvet that is hand stitched. The sleeve on our Oak Hall gown is fully lined with a full, generous turned-under finish while the competitor's is gathered into a knit cuff.

The tams provided by Oak Hall are individually sized and truly custom with a fuller loft versus an adjustable "size range" and a flatter finish.

The Harvard Coop has sample gowns available for your viewing at our Harvard Square location. We understand that this is an important investment in your future and The Harvard Coop is happy to help answer any of your questions while you make your decision.

The Harvard Coop order form with pricing and descriptions is on page 2 of this document.

Please note that all custom orders take 4 to 6 weeks.

The order deadline to receive your custom regalia in time for Harvard Commencement 2018 is April 20th.
